Between the 8th and 10th August 2014, Haddo House and Country Park is the venue to find out more about your ancestral roots in the north east of Scotland.

Guest speakers will include author and broadcaster Jim Naughtie.

A wide variety of organisations and experts will be on hand to get you started on your ancestral research or to help you solve those tricky questions about your family tree.

With the traditional culture and local produce of the region also on offer, make this weekend the main route back to your roots.
